

When you arrive at the Atlanta Airport

Atlanta Airport  MARTA

When you arrive at the airport and have all your luggage, follow the instructions to get to the MARTA station. Most airport employees can direct you if you don't see the signs.

(ICPC Volunteers will be in gold shirts)

At the MARTA station, look for the ICPC NAC Volunteer, who will give you a Breeze card to ride the train. (If you cannot find a volunteer, there are desks and Kiosks where you can purchase a card.)

From the airport, get on any MARTA train. There are 2 lines at the airport (Red and Gold), but they don't split until after you get where you need to be. Also, the airport is the southern terminus, so all trains go north. Bottom line – just get on any train. Go north seven stops to the 5 Points Station. This where you change trains.

NORTH
(red or gold)

WEST

(blue or green)

Go up 1 level, and get on a Westbound train. Any Westbound train will do. Again, there are two lines (Blue and Green this time), but they don't split until later. (Be sure to get on a WESTBOUND train; trains also go EASTBOUND at this station.)

From there, you only have to go one stop, to the station for "Dome/GWCC/Philips Arena/CNN Center". That's your stop.

When you exit the train, look for an ICPC Volunteer, who will give you directions to walk to your hotel.

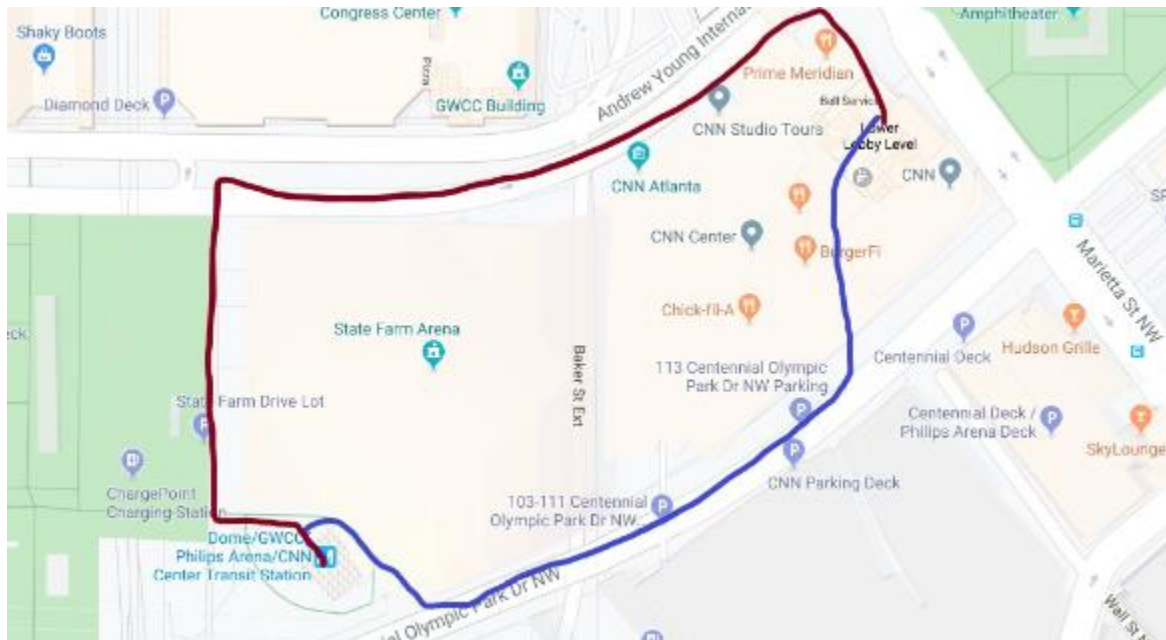

Directions to the Hotel

If you can't find a volunteer, here are directions to the hotel:

To get to the hotel from MARTA, there are two routes (see map). The blue route, cutting through CNN center (which is a mall), is shorter, but has stairs to get up to Centennial Olympic Park Dr. There is a ramp on the red route, so even though it's a little longer, it might be easier with luggage.

The walk is approximately 10 minutes.
